

WISE FUNDS

COVID – 19 Update – March 2020

Dear all,

In line with government advice, the Wise Funds team is now working from home until further notice.

We live in extraordinary times. That said, our contingency plans have long been in place and tested, so each member of our team has access to the same set-up at home as they do in the office.

While it will surely take us some time to adjust to virtual interactions with our colleagues and the managers of our companies or funds (via video team meetings, calls, chats and emails), we are confident that this won't affect the quality of our work.

Being prepared for events like the one we are currently experiencing means that we can continue to solely focus on managing our funds for our clients, without interruptions or distractions.

The recent moves in markets have been unprecedented since the Global Financial Crisis. As history always shows, this period of turbulence will come to an end. Unfortunately, we cannot predict when so, in the meantime, we will continue to analyse markets rationally and invest patiently: we believe that this is the best way to deliver attractive long-term returns to our clients and this has proven us right for the last decade and a half of managing your funds.

As always, if you have questions or would like to talk to us, please get in touch via the usual channels (emails or our office phone numbers).

Many thanks.

Kind regards,

The Wise Funds Team
